Freelance Grammatical Research Grant Editors

For more potential grant editors listed by discipline, please visit:

Sarah Bishop

434-305-5192

srb9w@virginia.edu

· Ph.D. in English, University of Virginia
· Extensive experience editing dissertations, academic monographs, and grant applications
· Also proficient with science applications
· Will find ways for a researcher to present his or her work more clearly for specialized or general audiences

Lee Carpenter

814-865-5204

src5@psu.edu

· 30 years of experience in the cultivation and coordination of faculty teams around specific external funding announcements; proposal development, preparation (including writing and editing), and submission
· Particular expertise in the social and health sciences
· Since 2001 I have been broadening those experiences to include work in energy, the environment, earth and engineering sciences, and related areas

Tyler Cutforth

949-824-8811

tcutfort@uci.edu

· 4 years grant editing experience
· Background is in molecular biology/genetics/neuro-science
· Full-time in research development at UC Irvine

Jheri Dupart

Jheri@bioscripta.com

· BioScripta Health Science Communications
· Doctorate is from MD Anderson
· Comfortable working across biomedicine and many other fields, including infrastructure ('large, high-value') proposals
· Great eye for consistency and logical presentation. She has also worked as an English language editor for an overseas journal, and is great for working on writing from non-native speakers

Mary Licklider

lickliderm@missouri.edu

· Recently retired director for Grant Writing and Publications, University of Missouri
· Initiated and taught grantsmanship courses and seminars and collaborated with faculty members on proposal preparation
· Member of the National Organization of Research Development Professionals, the Grant Professionals Association, and the Society of Research Administrators

Lisa Maroski

Lisa.maroski@mindspring.com

773-984-9882

· Over 25 years of helping medical researchers get funding from NIH, NSF, DoD, and private foundations and get manuscripts published in prestigious journals
· Experience in most sciences, with expertise in biomedical sciences, including oncology, (epi)genetics, neurology, micro and molecular biology, immunology, and rheumatology
· Teach workshops on self-editing, grantwriting, and making your research more innovative · Editing that goes way beyond grammar—includes logic, coherence, completeness, and persuasiveness
· Experience with multi-disciplinary, multi-investigator grant proposals
· Assist writers for whom English is not their first language

Marjorie P. Piechowski

414-229-3721

piechow4@uwm.edu

· Director of Research Support, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee College of Engineering and Applied Science
· Responsible for coordinating and editing large-scale multi-disciplinary, multi-investigator research proposals; writing grants for student support

Freelance Grammatical Research Grant Editors

For more potential grant editors listed by discipline, please visit:
http://www.nordp.org/assets/resources-docs/tech_writers_directory-2012.pdf

J.C. Ross
831-459-4973
rossjc@ucsc.edu
· Does interdisciplinary art/science and art/engineering projects
· Has experience with NSF grants and science writing
· Taught writing for 20 years at the university level

Michelle M. Schoenecker
schoenecker.michelle@gmail.com
414-588-3766
· Proposal developer and technical editor, College of Engineering & Applied Science, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee
· MA in English specializing in Professional and Technical Writing and Editing
· More than 10 years experience in technical writing (6.5 years in the sciences)
· Helps faculty develop compelling and competitive research proposals, primarily to NSF, NIH, DoD, and DOE
· Works primarily with faculty for whom English is second or third language; edits journal manuscripts for grammar and compliance with format requirements

Sharlene Simon
919-724-5090
smsgrantsconsulting@gmail.com
· One of the original proposal developers in the North Carolina State University Proposal Development Unit (PDU)
· Now PDU assistant director
· Available to work as a grammatical editor on proposals
· Ensures no conflict of interest existed and verify that NC State was not competing for the same grant solicitation

SPi
http://www.prof-editing.com
Authors who want to refine the use of English in their manuscripts might consider utilizing the services of SPi, a non-affiliated company that offers Professional Editing Services to authors of journal articles in the areas of science, technology, medicine or the social sciences. SPi specializes in editing and correcting English-language manuscripts written by authors with a primary language other than English. Visit http://www.prof-editing.com for more information about SPi's Professional Editing Services, pricing, and turn-around times, or to obtain a free quote or submit a manuscript for language polishing.